"What does the title mean?" he asked, hoping it might modify the unfriendly message of the four short lines that followed. The clerk had the license with his name on it, Barry Riordan, right there in her hand. She inserted it. Compared to the chill of the air, the water felt boiling hot. The heat drew out the last of my anger, though. Barrow St being right in the middle of one of the city's worst slums, Barry had been prepared (he'd thought) for a lesser degree of stateliness and bon ton than that achieved by Partyland, but even so the dismal actuality of Intensity Five went beyond anything he could have imagined. A cavernous one-room basement apartment with bare walls, crackly linoleum over a concrete floor, and radiators that hissed and gurgled ominously without generating a great deal of heat. The furniture consisted of metal folding chairs, most of them folded and stacked, a refreshment stand that sold orange juice and coffee, and a great many freestanding, brimful metal ashtrays. She was quiet for a long time, then shuffled her feet awkwardly. She glanced at him, then at Song and Ralston. They were waiting, and she had to blush and smile slowly at them. Song finished her report and handed the mike to Lang. Before she could start, Weinstein came on the line. "Nothing yet," said Amos. "But we can help you if you help us." But I would not because I had seen him catch a beautiful blue bird with red feathers round its neck and stick it through the same zipper, and all there was was an uncomfortable sound from the trunk, something like: Orulmhf." Hinda could not answer. She could not even look at him. His nakedness shamed her more than his garden, he put all his reward in the wheelbarrow, went back to the small door and knocked. The second discovery was made by Lucy McKillian and concerned the absence of an event that up to that time had been as regular as the full moon. out. He looked fine, all over his spell. Amos jumped out of his rags and handed them to the sailor who trotted off toward the wheelhouse. Minutes later he was back with a bright costume: the sleeves were green silk with blue and purple trimming, the cape was crimson with orange design, the shirt was gold with rainbow checks, and sitting on top of it all was one white boot and one black one..
